MENDOCINO COUNTY DAY AT EXPOSITION

Commissioner C. S. Scott of the P. P. I. E., was in town yesterday and met with the county commissioners and the citizens and ladies auxiliary at the supervisors rooms yesterday afternoon. Commissioner Scott is particularly interested in the county days at the fair and was urging on the Mendocino people the importance of attending on March 8th, which is Mendocino county day. He points out that a good crowd that day will mean a great deal of newspaper publicity, which is good advertising, but that especial pains are being taken by the exposition officials to make Mendocino county day an event. There will be special music and receptions, etc. It is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance. P. I. Lancaster, president of the county board and Dr. Malpas, county president of the womans auxiliary, also spoke and urged the people to assist.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

Curtis A. Miller Co., reports the following sales, coming through their office during the last few days:

To Chas. E. Burns of Portland, Oregon, a tract of land in Redwood Valley on the state highway.

To J. C. Dillon of Los Angeles a tract of land in Hawkeye Subdivision, Redwood Valley.

To M. L. McGarigan of San Francisco, a tract of land in Hawkeye Subdivision, Redwood Valley.

To M. L. Hartman of Salt Lake City, 165 acres on Pine Ridge, the old F. A. Miller place.

To Mrs. Clara Monson of Fort Bragg, a house and lot on Dora Ave., Ukiah.

RETURNS FROM EASTERN TRIP

George L. Magneson returned this week from a month's visit in Chicago and St. Paul and reports that he is glad to get back to California. While in St. Paul he had many sleigh rides and witnessed some 20 below weather. In Omaha it was 14 below. This, however, is not new to Mr. Magneson, as he formerly resided in the east and says it reminded him of old times. Nevertheless he was glad to get back to California weather and out of the intense cold. While there he managed to take time enough from his other business interests to investigate what tax associations are doing in other states and will have an interesting report to make to the tax association at its next meeting. He states that the aim here is to assess at a cash valuation and that the rate is a great deal lower, much less than half of the California rates.

MENDOCINO COUNTY AT THE EXPOSITION

Governor Johnson is to declare the 20th a holiday and as the next day is Sunday, and Monday is Washington's birthday, the three holidays coming together will undoubtedly make for a large attendance at the exposition on the opening day. It is expected that many residents of Mendocino county will be present.

The Mendocino county exhibit is attracting a great deal of attention and is said to be one of the finnest at the fair. The following regarding it is clipped from the San Francisco Bulletin and shows that the county commissioners have accomplished results:

Mendocino county has expressed in its display principally its supremacy as a hunting and resort country, while its agricultural advantages have not been neglected.

The lighthouse of Point Arena, made of apples and amply illuminated, is one of the chief features. An Indian village inhabited by three generations of real Indians, a grandmother, a squaw and a papoose, and surrounded by every imaginable variety of mounted game and animal, will attract the attention of the visitor.

A fine display of fresh flowers, ferns and bulbs by Purdy's Bulb Ranch is shown. The flowers will be changed often to suit the season, and a prolific wild-flower exhibit will be made in the summer. Show cases with agricultural products will also be here.

THE FABLE OF THE FOOLISH FARMER

Once upon a time there was a foolish farmer who had a hen. Thought he, "if i can buy a dozen eggs and have the hen set on them, I shall soon have a dozen chickens. These, in turn, will lay more eggs, which will become chickens, and bye and bye I shall have a poultry farm. And they tell me there's money in poultry."

So the farmer went to a neighbor and said, "I want to buy a dozen eggs." The neighbor replied, "I haven't any eggs, but they say carrots have all the properties of eggs. I'll sell you a bunch of carrots for nearly nothing."

So the foolish farmer took the carrots and set the hen on them. The poultry farm didn't pay expenses that year.

MORAL.

The fable teaches that if you want eggs that produce results you must go to the man who deals in them; and if you want advertising that will produce results you must use a newspaper that has a circulation and gives the kind of a reading matter the people want. There is only one such news-paper in this section.—The Ukiah Republican Press. Our want ads are the fresh egg—not carrots.

MANNONS RETURN FROM EXPOSITION

Judge and Mrs. J. M. Mannon returned Wednesday night from their tour of the southern part of the state and report a very pleasant time. The Judge says that the San Diego fair is well worth the trip and that every one who can, should attend. They also visited in Calexico, San Louis Obispo and San Francisco. They were delayed in the city a couple of days by the rains while on their way home. The Judge says, however, that after all he did not see any place that looked as good to him as Mendocino county.

HIGHEST WATER EVER KNOWN HERE

Mendocino county and California in general has just experienced one of the hardest storms ever known. For over three weeks rain had been falling and just as the weather forecasters predicted that it had moved east, J. Pluvius turned loose another that was a record breaker. Early Tuesday morning the rivers began to raise and before noon the waters in Russian river had passed any high water mark known in many years. At the Dutton place it is reported that the water was at least six inches higher than it had ever been known.

Despite the height of the water, no serious damage was done in the county and by evening the waters had gone down a couple of feet. All train service was suspended Tuesday and it was not until Wednesday evening that a train was got through from San Francisco, bringing the mail and passengers. The damage to the local road consisted of a number of washouts, but everything is now fixed and trains are running on schedule time. The road between Ukiah and Willits was not damaged. The Fort Bragg railroad was put out of commission by slides, but service is hoped to be resumed immediately. The Eureka branch is out, probably for the winter.

Upperlake is said to have been completely covered and there was several inches of water in the postoffice and the other buildings of the town. Bunt Bucknell, the veteran driver, was requisitioned in an attempt to get the mail through, and was three days in making the trip. He had to leave his rig at Cold Creek and completed the journey on horseback. The Lake county road was badly washed out and near the rocky slide by Hemlock, the road was washed out and impassable for any kind of a rig. He started again yesterday and hoped to get through with a cart. W. H. Miller claims that if anyone can make it Bert M. is the man. Supervisor Ford has a crew of men repairing the road.

The Redwood Valley bridge above Calpella was washed out and badly damaged and travel has been coming by way of Coyote Valley. This was the only bridge lost in this district.

Supervisor Fairbanks reports the loss of the Outlet bridge and several small bridges and culverts in his district. Supervisor Harris lost a small bridge in Anderson Valley and several fills and culverts.

Supervisor Ross reported some small damage in his district.

In the fifth district Supervisor Reynolds reports that the Hearn Gulch bridge went out, fell into the gulch and broke in two. This was probably the worst loss of the storm in the county. He also lost a small bridge on the Navarro grade and some culverts and fills.

The board of supervisors held a special meeting last night to authorize the necessary repairs under the emergency act. It will threfore be only a few days until the county roads are again in commission.

Telephone and telegraph lines were down and for a while Ukiah was cut off from all communication with the outside world.

Several of the bridges along the canal in Potter Valley were washed or damaged.

Express Agent Custer has received word not to ship to Dos Rios, Fort Bragg or Eureka. The postoffice is piled full of mail as a result of the interrupted train service.

Before the last storm the Eureka branch was in bad shape and it took three trains to get through from Willits on account of slides. Tunnel 15, three miles this side of Dos Rios, caved in and passengers were compelled to walk around it. John Eldred and Frank Spurlock, who came down from

ASSEMBLYMAN PETTIS HOME FROM ASSEMBLY

Assemblyman Pettis returned Wednesday night from Sacramento and is interviewing his friends around town. He and his wife expect to return to Fort Bragg Sunday. Assemblyman Pettis has made a splendid showing at Sacramento by his straightforwardness and independence and has won the admiration of the administration by not following the lead of a lot of weak-need members, who wanted to get on the band wagon.

The measures he has introduced have been held in committee until after the recess so that he will have a chance to discuss matters with his constituents and learn their wishes in the matter of proposed legislation. In regard to the bill for a second judge for Mendocino county, Assemblyman Pettis says that he does not, nor never did favor it personally and that it was introduced at the suggestion of Judge White, and that this bill has also been retained in committee so that he would have ample time to advise with the people as to its advisability at this time.

He was especially honored by being the first assemblyman named on the commission of rivers and harbors which will visit the different portions of the state in connection with the congressional committee to look after the needs of the waterways of the state.

GRAND JURY FAVORS FARM ADVISER

E. W. Dutton represented the Farm Bureau movement at the meeting of the grand jury Tuesday and gave them a talk on the proposed Farm Adviser. The grand jury then adopted the following resolutions favoring the proposition:

"A recommendation to the board of supervisors that the office of farm adviser be created and that the sum of $2000 be set aside for the expense of the office for one year. A recommendation that after the setting aside of the $2000 that the University of California be petitioned for a farm adviser. A recommendation to the board of supervisors that the office be created and continued for at least three years, with the expenses paid by the county."

POCAHONTAS, Va., January 28, 1915. Mr. W. O. White, Ukiah, Cal. Dear Sir:—Yours of the 20th inst. received, also; clipping from your paper. I want to thank you for the courtesy you have extended to me in helping me to locate my relatives, also, for your kind invitation to drop in and see you, provided I come to your state next summer. I shall certainly take advantage of your kind invitation if I should be in your vicinity.

Please extend my thanks to the parties who so graciously gave you the necessary information as to my relatives.

Wishing you success, I am, yours very truly, M. D. Piercy.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS

The grand jury completed its session Wednesday and adjourned to the call of the chair. The supplementary report has not been filed up to going to press. It is understood that several matters were investigated, but that no indictments were brought.

HALLIDAY CHIEF DEPUTY

C. G. Halliday assumed the chief deputyship in the United States Attorney's office under J. W. Preston in San Francisco on the first. He reports that it is keeping him busy getting on to the ropes, but his friends in this county feel that he is sure to make abundantly good on the job.

COUNTY SCHOOLS OPENING

School Superintendent, Mrs. Porterfield, reports that the following schools are to open Monday: Albion Flora Buchanan, Helen Puett and Edith Straw; Caspar—Fred Anderson and Dorothy Byrnes; Long Valley—Mary Crangle; McDowell—Bertha Steel; Potter Valley Mrs. Blanche Sides; Westport—Avis Cureton. Fort Bragg will have a few changes in teachers, the new principal being Preston Smith, ex-superintendent of Placer county. On the 15th the following schools will open: Alpine Adeline Lydick; Anderson—Matilda Whipple; Coyote—Muriel Thomas; De Haven—Dorothy Corley; Pine Ridge—Mrs. Oleva Thornberg.

CULTUS CLUB LADIES BANQUET AT PALACE

On the evening of Tuesday, January 2nd, at the Palace Hotel, occurred one of the most select and thoroughly enjoyable social affairs of the season, the occasion being the annual banquet of the Cultus Club. The members of this club are adepts in the art of entertaining and this event was fully up to the standard of those recorded in former years.

At eight o'clock the guests began to arrive and at 8:30 the beautiful new reception room, adjoining the dining room, was filled with elegantly gowned ladies and their escorts, all then repairing to the banquet hall where a most attractive scene met the eye.

Arrangements had been made for seating the guests all together at a single broad table extending the length of the room and the resultant sense of space with its snowy expanse of damask, was effective and pleasing in the extreme. Simple, but beautiful, were the table decorations, the central piece being of ferns and magnificent red carnations while midway between this and each corner was a basket of exquisite ferns. The entire arrangement of the table and its decorations was novel and unusual, the general effect being one of tasteful and elegant simplicity.

The following very elaborate menu was served, each course being a triumph of the caterer's art:

Raw Oysters on the half shell—horseradish sauce.
Olives, Salted Almonds
Bouillon en cup
Rock cod tartar sauce
Pineapple Fritters gelatine sauce
Roast Turkey with dressing—cranberry sauce
Asparagus with drawn butter
Crab Salad
English Mince Pie, Cheese
Black Coffee
Assorted Nuts

Dinner being completed, Mrs. Hale McCowen—who in the absence of Dr. Ida Malpas, the Club president, acted as toast mistress—made a brief speech welcoming the Club guests, following which the after dinner ball of wit and humor was set to rolling, when merry toasts and witty stories enlivened the social hour and all too quickly brought to a close a most delightful evening.

The first speaker of the evening was Mrs. T. A. Templeton, who responded to the toasts—Our guests—Our Club members. Among the other speakers were Mrs. Held, Mrs. Nellie Gibson, Prof. Fulkerson, Dr. Henry Hansen and H. B. Smith.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Templeton, J. A. Jamison, H. B. Smith, Philip Joseph, E. B. Gibson, Geo. L. Wilcox, Hale McCowen, Sr., Prof. and Mrs. Fulkerson, Drs. Henry and Lena Hansen, Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Rea, Mesdames. E. Chalfant, W. D. L. Held, J. L. Taylor; Misses Luella Williams, Carrie Garsey, Hazel Blosser, Marguerite Thomas and Messrs. E. L. Cunningham and Hale McCowen, Jr.

GOWAN BROTHERS LEASE CREAMERY

Hiram and Jud Gowan have leased the Ukiah creamery and took charge this week. Both are experienced dairymen, Hiram having been in the dairy business all his life. He had a large dairy ranch at Shelter Cove for several years and was also in business in Anderson Valley for a couple of years. They are brothers of Gowan Bros., of the garage and are wellknown throughout the county and the patrons of the creamery need have no fear of not getting a square deal from them. In fact it is fortunate that such men have taken hold of the enterprise and means that the venture will undoubtedly be a success.

BUSINESS GOOD AT CLUB

Prof. C. A. Barnard, manager of the Ukiah Farmers Club, reports that the business outlook is good. During the month of January the club did $1600 more business than it did last year. The weather conditions were similar and money is presumed to be tighter, and hence he takes this as an indication that the present year will be prosperous. The regular club meeting will be held Saturday when officers and directors for the coming year will be elected. It will pay you to read their ad this week and note the attractive prices.

LEGISLATORS WILL MEET TAXPAYERS

The Ukiah Chamber of Commerce is planning a meeting at a time that will be convenient for Assemblyman Pettis and Senator Purkitt to attend to discuss pending measures that affect Mendocino county. The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the city hall and will be the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and citizens and taxpayers will be especially invited to be present. As soon as the date is determined, notice will be given through the papers.

Among the questions which it is proposed to discuss are: A second judge for Mendocino county; Highway from Glenn county to Mendocino; Bill to take building of county roads from supervisors and put matter in hands of an engineer; Bill prolonging judges term to 12 years; Bill making superior judges appointive by the governor; Bill abolishing county assessors and placing assessment in the hands of a state board of trade.

Assemblyman Pettis has already expressed his desire to be at the meeting and it is thought that Senator Purkitt will welcome the opportunity of advising with his constituents.

WHAT IT RAINED

Dr. George McCowen reports the rainfall for the week as 10.48 inches and for the storm lasting 12 days, 14.25 inches. The season is 32.12, against 41.38 last year. Maximum temperature 54 on 30th and minimum 35 on 3rd.

INJURED BY BULL

Jim Rose had a narrow escape from death on the Johnson ranch last evening when he was attacked by a bull. The animal was a mule, but knocked Mr. Rose down and refused to let him get up. He crawled into a pool of water thinking the bull would not follow, but the animal went in and nearly drowned him. His pet dog finally saved his life by attacking the bull and drawing his attention while Mr. Rose crawled to a place of safety. He was injured about the back.

SLINGSBY BABY WINS

The London courts have finally decided the famous Slingsby case in favor of the baby whose legitimacy was questioned by other heirs. The baby will inherit half a million dollars. The testimony of the San Francisco nurse and doctor were disregarded by the London judge.

STATE OFFICERS EXEMPT

Game Warden Bert Miller has just received word from the commission that it has been decided that a state officer need not pay for revenue stamps for a telephone or telegraph message or on freight or express shipments. This is quite a saving to Bert as he is frequently called on to do considerable phoning for the commission.

COSMOS CLUB HOLDS MEETING

"The day is cold and dark and dreary;
It rains, and the wind is never weary."

Such were the thoughts of some of the members of the Kosmos Club on Tuesday afternoon at the hour of the meeting. The attendance was good, however, in spite of the ceaseless falling of the rain. It was truly a cheery and happy gathering. How could it be otherwise with two such delightful and cordial hostesses as Mrs. Gracey and Mrs. LeRoy, and the espirit de corps that one feels at these meetings?

During the business session the president read a delightful little fairy tale, entitled, "The Queen Flower," which had been sent to her to read before the club. An aspiring young writer from down below had desired to get the opinion of the club as to the merits of his efforts as a writer of fairy tales. The story was sweet and interesting, and had a beautiful little moral in it.

At the close of a lengthy business session Mrs. Judson Liftchild read an instructive and entertaining paper on the late Dr. S. Weir Mitchell of Philadelphia. Dr. Mitchell was distinguished as a novelist, poet, scientist, and developer of the rest cure for nervous disorders. A son of the old aristocratic and wealthy Philadelphia families, his social and educational environment was all that could be desired. "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker" is his best known novel.

After the conclusion of the program the Club members and their guests were seated comfortably at the atractively appointed tables, and were examining the pretty place cards that caused one to remember that "St. Valentine's Day is not far away." But soon all attention was given to the delicious refreshments and the animated conversation. All too soon came the early twlight and the friendly words of parting. During the social hour a fine and sweet-toned phonograph sent forth its mellow strains and added to the enjoyment of the passing moments.

BAD CHECK MAN LOCATED

Sheriff Byrnes reports that he has located I. W. Billings, who was wanted for passing a bad check for $500 on Jack Payne in this city some time since, at San Quentin. Billings was sentenced to San Quentin for three years from Los Angeles for another bad check, on October 16th, last. He is also wanted in San Francisco and Oakland for similar offenses, but Sheriff Byrnes will try and get him for the Ukiah charge as soon as his sentence is up.

PE-RU-NA
LAXATIVE-TONIC

"I was taken with a severe headache and cold, which finally brought on constipation and bowel trouble. Physics of all kinds were used, and we were obliged to resort to the fountain syringe for help. I could drink castor oil like water, but it did no good. Salts were of no use. The doctors were puzzled. After using three bottles of Peruna I consider myself entirely well." Mr. John B. Capers, No. 610 Pecan St., Fort Worth, Texas.

Those who object to Liquid Medicine will find Peruna Tablets a desirable remedy for CATARRHAL CONDITIONS.

A FINE FOR SWEARING

Beware the sheriff's office. Of course this applies at all times, but particularly at the present time. You see they have adopted a new rule there, at the suggestion of Sheriff Byrnes, that every time an oath is uttered in the front office the cusser is to be fined a jit or five cens. At the end of the month the dope sheet will be consulted and the fellow with the cleanest score will be awarded the pot. While the nickle fine has reduced the profanity some, but the pot is slowly increasing and each of the frequenters of the sheriff's office is anxious to annex it.

A hen doesn't quit scratching just because worms are scarce.

SMALLEST WOMAN IN ILLINOIS DEAD

WAS TWO FEET TALL—FLORENCE TATE OF GRANITE CITY REJECTED MANY CIRCUS OFFERS—HAS RELATIVES IN THIS SECTION

W. T. Rice of this city received word recently of the death of a cousin, Miss Florence Tait, at Granite City, Ill. The deceased was the smallest woman in the world, but had refused many flattering offers from circuses. The other members of the family are all good sized men and women, Mr. Rice of this city being well toward six feet.

The following notice regarding Miss Tait is taken from an Illinois paper:

Miss Florence Tate, known as the smallest woman in Illinois, and one of the smallest women in the world, died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Tate, 2149 E. street, Granite City, at the age of 45 years. Miss Tate had been ill three weeks.

Miss Tate has had innumerable opportunities to travel with various circuses, and at one time rejected a contract which called for a salary of upward of $100 a week. Her deep religious sentiments prevented her from traveling with a circus.

She was born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tate at Flora, Ill., and was the eldest of a family of six children—three boys and three girls. Her father and mother were unusually large, and all her brothers and sisters were large.

Miss Tate was but 24 inches tall and weighed 57 pounds.

Many of her paintings have been exhibited at art displays, and her needlework has been sold in all parts of the world. Art critics declared her paintings in oil excellent.

She wore a No. 6, baby size, shoe, and baby gloves.

In spite or her handicap, Miss Tate was a devout religious worker, and was affiliated with the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Foreign Missionary Society and other organizations.

Was Missionary Society Officer.

It is said she never missed a meeting of any of her societies. She has held offices in the national organizations of the Foreign Missionary Society and district offices in the Epworth League. She wrote a perfect hand.

One of Miss Tate's hobbies was to distribute post cards, and it is estimated she has sent out more than 250,000 to all parts of the world.

One side of her room is covered with boxes and drawers, filled with records and correspondence.

As a means of livelihood, Miss Tate made art work. She was a charter member of the Shut-in Society, which she helped organize years ago among afflicted persons who could not leave their homes. She corresponded with the members regularly, keeping an accurate record of all her work.

She was possessed of a remarkable memory, and never failed to recall an acquaintance. Members of her family and friends intimately acquainted with her say they never knew of her being in ill temper.

Practically every resident of Granite ity was well acquainted with Miss Tate. She frequently would call business men by telephone, inquire into business conditions, and encourage them when they told her business was not what it should be.

Traveled Throughout Country.

Miss Tate traveled extensively throughout the United States. Accompanied by her mother, she visited nearly every state in the West. Her acquaintances throughout the country frequently led railroad agents to provide free transportation for her.

She often had been the subject of newspaper and magazine articles, and several noted medical experts have made studies of her condition.

Although her hands and arms were tiny, Miss Tate worked with her art work and paintings untiringly. A large number of her paintings and much of her fancy needlework are in the homes of wealthy persons.

Miss Tate was not sensitive and always answered queries by letter promptly.

A special casket is being designed for her funeral. It will be 18 inches deep, 18 inches wide and 4 feet long. The casket was made longer than necessary at the request of her mother.

The time of the funeral has not been set, but it has been decided to take the body to Flora for burial.

Miss Ttate had been a resident of Granite City sixteen years.

FOUNDATION FOR SUCCESS IN AGRICULTURE

1. ANIMAN HUSBANDRY

By Gordon H. True, Professor of Animal Husbandry in the University of California.

Note: "What are the fundamental principles of successful agriculture?" This is No. 1 of a series of articles answering that question. In these brief summaries different experts of the faculty of the College of Agriculture of the University of California have set forth succinctly the basic principles of their various specialties.)

Live stock farming maintains the fertility of the soil

Farm animals converts raw materials grown on the farm into valuable finished products.

The improvement of farm live-stock is dependent upon the use of pure-bred sires.

Good breeding and individuality should be combined.

Mature breeding-stock gives best results.

Too early breeding results in underdeveloped stock.

Where possible, proven sires should be used.

A mother in good condition at parturition raises her offspring best.

Overfeeding often results in impairment of breeding functions.

In-breeding is dangerous.

Different breeds of live stock are adapted to different natural conditions.

Form in animals indicates function.

It is a mistake to attempt to combine diverse uses in the small animal.

The cheapest growth is made by young animals.

Young animals should be kept growing from birth to maturity.

Exercise is important for young stock and pregnant females.

In feeding your animals their ultimate use should be kept in mind.

Regularity in care and feeding make for best results.

Animal comfort promotes profit.

Remnants are especially adapted to the economical use of rough feed.

The growing pig should be fed at least two per cent its weight of grain daily.

Sheep keep down weeds on the farm.

Sheep are well adapted to rough grazing lands.

A production of at least two hundred and fifty pounds of butter fat or six thousand pounds of milk per cow per year should be the aim in daiory farming.

2. CITRUS FRUITS

By J. Eliot Coit, Professor of Citriculture in the University of California.

(Note: "What are the fundamental principles of successful agriculture?" This is No. 2 of a series of articles answering the question. In these brief summaries different experts of the faculty of the College of Agriculture of the University of California have set forth succinctly the basic principles of their various specialties.)

The most important factors in successful citriculture are: The soil, favorable climatic conditions, irrigation, fertilization, cultivation, healthy, vigorous trees, careful pruning, membership in a strong selling association.

Sour orange is the best root-stock, broadly speaking.

High-budded trees are most resistant to disease.

The control of scale insects costs six per cent on two hundred and fifty dollars for each acre annually. Scale-free districts need not pay this tax.

Plow-sole and hardpan decrease yields.

Maintenance of the humus content of arid soils increases yields.

Allowing the roots to dry during transplanting kills trees.

Allowing the soil to become too dry once makes trouble for a year.

Suckers cannot be depended upon to grow into profitable branches.

Frequent pruning of lemons increases yields.

Top-working old orchards is usually unprofitable.

Orchard temperatures may be economically raised ten degrees with oil heaters.

Radiated heat is more effective than heat of convection

Fruit decays are caused by fungus parasites.

Tent-cured lemons ship better than tree-ripe fruit.

Toadstool fungus is fatal to citrus trees.

Lemon gum disease may be cured with Bordeaux paste.

Scale insects are most economically controlled by fumigation.

3. CROP PRODUCTION

By Charles L. Lipman, Professor of Soil Chemistry and Bacteriology in the University of California.

(Note: "What are the fundamental principles of successful agriculture?" This is No. 3 of a series of articles answering the question. In these brief summaries different experts of the faculty of the College of Agriculture of the University of California have set forth succinctly the basic principles of their various specialties.)

Deep soil, meaning several feet free from coarse gravel, hardpan, or standing water, is essential for the production of the best crops in California.

Air, as well as moisture, each to the extent of about one-fourth of the volume of soil, are essential to successful plant growth.

Plant food is available (or "soil water" soluble) form is essential to successful plant growth.

Maintenance of a plentiful supply of organic matter is essential to successful crop production.

A neutral or slightly alkaline reaction of the soil is essential to the successful growth of most crops. Liming maintains such reaction.

Soil bacteria are essential factors in successful crop production because they help to make plant food available.

Excessive amounts of water-soluble salts (alkali) are determined to crop production.

The use of barnyard manure in the case of "whit alkali" and of gypsum in the case of "black alkali" prevents the toxicity of these salts to a great degree.

Fertilizers may serve to add to the store of available plant food in the soil, or may stimulate bacterial and physical charges in the interest of soil fertility, or both.

There will never be another day like this one. Therefore let us do our best today for the greatest thing we can ever do is to do our best.

GEORGE M. HOWELL CALLED TO REST

George M. Howell died in this city January 31st, and the funeral was held from Hutchison & Roeder's undertaking parlors at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of February 2nd. The deceased had been in poor health for some time. He is survived by his wife, of this city, his mother, Mrs. Condict of Oakland, who came up to the funeral, and a sister, Mrs. Lena Faulkner of Oakland.

George William Morton Howell was born in Butler, Bates county, Missouri, March 21, 1868, and came to Ukiah 20 years ago. He was married to Mrs. Daisy Alloway on February 19, 1895. Since coming to Ukiah he has continuously resided here.

SPRING

The Spring crops all are in the ground,
And thrifty gardens growing;
The broad, green fields look good and sound,
And all with life are glowing.

A passing auto's dusty gale,
The rooster looks defiance;
The watch-dog yawns and wags his tail,
But keeps a friendly silence.

The people of this neck of woods,
All try to help each other—
Do not indulge in quar'lsome moods,
Nor try to down a brother.

Without the least desire to shirk,
He tries to fill his stocking;
Each is so busy with his work,
He has not time for knocking.

The latch-string always hangs outside,
Of every settler's dwelling;
And you're invited to abide
A spell without more telling.

Now can't you come and have a time,
Among these happy gransers;
When you'll not have to spend a dime,
Where dogs don't bark at strangers?

Now, if you please, I'll try my hand,
At writing vernal verses;
Spring poetry, I think, is grand,
And should not meet with curses.

The tuneful frog now cleans his throat,
And sings an evening ditty,
While gently croaks the billy-goat
On hills beyond the city.

The bees nig loads of honey lug
In from the flowery meadow;
The gay and festive tumble-bug,
Now standeth on his head, O!

And by these signs we know that Spring,
Is now upon us creeping;
And this is why I try to sing,
And never think of weeping.

—Will Huntley.

A MUSICAL TREAT

The musical given by Mrs. John E. Mardock, assisted by A. M. Mathews, violinist of San Francisco, and several local artists, at the I. O. O. F. hall, last Saturday evening, was a rare musical treat to music lovers. A good audience greeted the musicians and heartily applauded each number of the program. Perhaps, never has a Ukiah audience listened to a more accomplished violinist than Mr. Mathews. He is a graduate of the Toronto College of Music of Toronto, Canada, and has been musical director of some of the leading theatres in the east and west, and traveled two seasons with the Lombardi Opera company. All of his selections were perfectly rendered. His rendition of "Thomas Romanza" was particularly expressive, while Paderewski's minuet lay in the skill in which the young artist established the light-heartedness and gayety of the piece.

The local artists who assisted were: Alvin Hufft, trombone; Harold Scott, flute; and Miss Vera Banks, pianist; each exhibiting surprisingly rare talent. On the whole, it was a feast of music and of such excellence and character that the many lovers of music in attendance hope to again have the opportunity to enjoy more of the same class of music.

A SURPRISE PARTY

Despite the inclemency of the weather, the friends of Mrs. Ames gave her a very pleasant surprise party at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Smith, last Tuesday afternoon in honor of her birthday. Cleland, Mrs. R. L. Hutchison, Mrs. Abe McKenzie, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. S. A. Macdonald, Mrs. H. B. Smith, Mrs. Ames, Mrs. A. L. Gibson, Mrs. Alice Harbert, Mrs. Ecce Van Voast, Mrs. F. M. Roeder, Mrs. J. R. Thomas, Mrs. J. R. Mathews, Miss Grace Mathews, Mrs. T. L. Carothers, Mrs. J. S. Reid, Miss Grace Reid, Mrs. Elizabeth Chalfant.

The guests departed wishing Mrs. Ames many more happy birthdays and that they would all be as pleasantly spent.

FIRST HOP CROP LET AT 10½ CENTS

If the first contract of the 1915 season is any criterion, hop prices this year will be even lower than in 1914. Yesterday in the county recorder's office a contract for 50,000 pounds of hops, sold by W. F. Pierson to Hugo Loewi for 10½ cents a pound, was placed on file, says the Sacramento Union of Wednesday. Last year at this time, the usual price obtained by growers for large amounts of hops was 14 cents, which it is said barely allows a profit. It is said the higher cost for ocean carriage and the decrease in the demand more than offsets the loss in hop production through the war in Europe.

A THREE-EYED BULLHEAD FISH

While fishing off the rocks Friday, Harvey Dixon landed a bullhead, which attracted the attention of our scientifically inclined citizens. The fish had a well developed head, and the two customary eyes were normal, but when it was shown the teachers of the high school they were somewhat amazed to note that between the naturally located eyes and about two inches above, another optic of little smaller size adorned his fishship. Miss Barrett at once suggested that the monstrosity be sent to the Stanford University, where freaks are scientifically determined and placed in their proper class. Miss Wood fell in with the idea, and the ladies agreed to boost Harvey with the university which he intends to become a student, so the name was signed to the letter. Harvey will undoubtedly receive a diagnosis of the freakish freak, in addition to some wholesome advice for his future guidance. We will gladly publish the letter with Harvey's permission for the benefit of those who may hereafter make unusual discoveries in their leisure moments.—Point Arena Record.
